

SCOTVAX

Professional Aquaculture Contractors

www.scotvax.com

Position Description

Aquaculture Vaccination Manager

Aquaculture Vaccination Manager for Scotvax Aquaculture Contractors. The following duties are what is required of you and will include but not limited to;

- At least 3 years experience in this role or similar.
- Being responsible for organising your rostered team, transport and logistics for the week ahead.
- Recording all information and data specific to the job and site. Complete daily vaccination reports for each day.
- Fish welfare checks and audits, including dissecting of fish to check their health prior to vaccination, liaising with fish veterinaries to confirm vaccination plans and schedules.
- Anaesthetising of fish - to correctly anaesthetise the fish enabling optimal fish welfare with minimum stress to the fish, conducting regular pre, during and post anaesthesia checks monitoring the oxygen, pH and temperature levels and determining the time of regular anaesthetic water changes for the fish during vaccination and documenting for record
- Post vaccination recovery management - to set up and monitor the fish and behaviour of the fish post vaccination ensuring the anaesthesia process and vaccination process has been adhered to correctly, documenting any abnormalities for record.
- Liaising with Scotvax management, site management and veterinaries to ensure minimal stress and optimal fish welfare for vaccinations.
- Post vaccination checks to ensure no abnormalities post vaccination and document for record.
- Maintenance of all vaccination equipment, pre, during and post vaccination, adhering competently to all biosecurity cleansing measures throughout all processes using provided laboratory designated area and sterile instruments.
- Adhering to all biosecurity measures within each fish farm and ensuring site staff adhere to all vaccination biosecurity protocols and measures.
- Training and supporting new employees on your team and reporting their progress to management.
- An open and willing attitude toward your own training and development programme to further your skills within the company